Track the World

This post was written with the assistance of ChatGPT.

Here are some key Wikipedia links to help you track the world economy:

Economic Indicators

- List of countries by GDP (nominal)
- List of countries by GDP (PPP)
- List of countries by unemployment rate
- List of countries by inflation rate
- List of public corporations by market capitalization
- List of companies by market capitalization
- List of countries by electricity production
- List of countries by renewable energy consumption

Trade and Finance

- List of countries by exports
- List of countries by imports
- List of countries by trade balance
- List of largest stock exchanges
- List of largest companies by revenue
- List of cities by GDP

Demographics and Infrastructure

- List of countries by population
- List of busiest airports by passenger traffic
- List of busiest container ports

Human Development and Society

- List of countries by Human Development Index
- List of languages by total number of speakers
- Languages used on the Internet

Technology and Digital Economy

- List of most-visited websites
- List of most-downloaded Google Play applications
- List of most-downloaded iOS applications

Additional Resources

- World Economic Outlook Reports (IMF)
- World Bank Open Data
- OECD Data
- Our World in Data - National GDP (Constant USD, World Bank)
- The World's Billionaires

Final Tips

- Cross-Verify Information: Always check multiple sources to ensure data accuracy.
- Stay Updated: Economic data can change frequently; regularly revisit these links for the latest information.
- Context Matters: Understand the context behind the numbers to make informed analyses and decisions.