

Management

- Prefer to promote colleagues who have worked in my group for at least six months rather than hiring senior engineers from outside.
- Think of colleagues as pieces of software: some remain stable for years, some seem good at first glance, some improve with more collaboration over time, and some get better and better ongoing.